

Conclusion:

- Successfully implemented a classical computer vision pipeline for pedestrian detection using HOG + SVM.
- The project demonstrated the utility of handcrafted feature extraction combined with machine learning for object detection tasks.
- Final results highlighted how post-processing with NMS significantly enhances detection quality.
- The system can be extended to video or real-time applications for surveillance, traffic monitoring, or autonomous navigation systems.